

PLANTING THE SEEDS OF THE DEAF ECOSYSTEM.

About the Gallaudet Innovation and Entrepreneurship Institute (GIEI)

The best entrepreneurs know that every challenge brings opportunity. Due to communication, language, and accessibility barriers, nearly 50% of deaf people are unemployed.¹ Yet because of these issues, deaf people are more likely than average to own their business.

GIEI is a place where Gallaudet students can dream, try, fail, and try again - the world's only incubator offered in American Sign Language and English.

By providing opportunities for experience and experimentation on campus, GIEI instills Gallaudet students with the entrepreneurial mindset they'll need in the workforce. We prepare students to excel as employees, teammates, and leaders, no matter their major or where they work.

Through contributions from Gallaudet University, private donors, and charitable foundations, GIEI provides an extensive range of programs for students, including:

Mentorship opportunities, pairing aspiring young entrepreneurs with experienced professionals.

Incubation programming, helping students turn business ideas into reality.

Co-working spaces, minimizing overhead expenses for start-up business ventures.

Entrepreneurship education through academic and non-academic platforms.

Showcase competitions like BisonTank, welcoming students to pitch a business plan and win a cash prize to fund their business idea.
